Default Question Block

A team of researchers at the University of Florida is developing a new tool that will compile data from multiple online learning platforms that you may already be using, including Math Nation. Our long-term vision is to create a data hub where students, teachers, and educators can see all the data they care about in one place to inform teaching and learning.

Through focus groups conducted this spring, we learned that many teachers use Math Nation reports during parent-teacher conferences, but they have to pull several reports to compile all of the data they want to share. This motivated us to create a Parent-Teacher Conference Report as one of the first tools available through our new data hub. Our goal is to help you quickly grab all the data you want to share during these important conversations.

Please complete this survey to let us know what you would like to have included in this new report. We can't promise to provide everything immediately, but we'll use what you tell us about your interests to inform the ongoing development of our data hub.

Please complete this survey by November 18, 2022. It should only take a few minutes. We really appreciate your time and thoughtfulness!
